Presbyterian Assembly Calls For Effort to End Segregation

They Turn Aside Plea to Avoid Any Discussion

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The 168th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. today called for an all-out desegregation effort in the fields of education, housing and industry.

The assembly, at the concluding session of its seven day annual meeting, adopted the report of the committee on social education and action, which asserted:

"Nowhere in our land can Negroes, and to a lesser extent other minority persons, escape the indignity of segregation or discrimination in one form or another."

The committee said further that "the community or church that feels it has no problem because there is no present crisis may have an especially difficult problem."

Earlier the president of the Southern Baptist Convention had asked it to avoid discussion of the racial segregation issue.

The Rev. Dr. Casper C. Warren of Charlotte, N. C., made the plea in an address prepared for the opening of the four-day meeting.

"Two years ago," he said, "this convention recognized the Supreme Court decision relative to segregation was in harmony with the constitutional guarantee of equal freedom to all citizens and with the principle of equal justice and love for all men."

"I concur in the feeling that it will be unwise for us to reopen any discussion of it here."

He warned:

"Open defiance of the constitutional principle will endanger our foreign mission work throughout 35 areas of the earth and play right into the hands of the Communists, who will welcome the privilege of ridiculing not only our democratic form of government but the type of Christianity which seeks to win the world."

The SBC president, who is scheduled for re-election, told the Baptists if they would "show courage, prudence, patience and understanding called for by the President of the United States, we will find the solution for this question on the local level and will demonstrate to the world that men of every race can live together in peace."

"Divergent viewpoints in such a large group are inevitable," he said, "but let us differ as Christians."

The warning was an obvious reference to sharp floor fights which have marked many SBC meetings.

The convention's Executive Committee, readying principal business for the full-scale meeting, ran into one yesterday.

Seven Alleged Red Leaders Are Rounded Up

BOSTON (AP)—Seven alleged Communist party leaders in Massachusetts, rounded up by FBI agents in three cities, faced the holiday in jail today in lieu of $10,000 bail each.

Described by the Justice Department as top party functionaries, the seven were arrested yesterday after a federal grand jury in Boston returned an indictment charging them with conspiracy to violate the Smith Act.

Four men and a woman were seized in Boston; a man was arrested in Queens, N. Y.; and another was taken into custody in Chattanooga, Tenn. They are accused in the indictment of conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

They included Otis Archer Hood, 56, erstwhile Communist party candidate for governor and other political offices in Massachusetts, and Michael A. Russo, 47, one-time party candidate for U. S. senator and governor in Connecticut.

Seized in Boston with Hood and Russo were Mrs. Anne Burlak Timpson, 45, known as the "Red Flame" for activities in Massachusetts textile strikes in the 30s; Sidney Samuel Lipshires, 37; and Daniel Boone Schirmer, 41.

French Claim Three Rebel Bands Slain

Fourth Is Crippled And Being Pursued By Mountain Troops

ALGIERS (AP)—French troops today claimed they had wiped out three bands of nationalist rebels in a series of clashes in eastern Algeria.

A fourth band reportedly suffered heavy losses and was being pursued by French mountain troops.

The French claimed 36 rebel dead in the four operations, plus another 70 killed in a two-day sweep against nationalists in the Little Kabylie region. French casualties were not reported.

In one operation north of Setif, in the western part of the nationalist-ridden Constantine department, French troops pursued a large band of rebels near Perigotville. French officer said 16 nationalists already had been slain and the chase was continuing.

The French made these additional claims:

In the Grand Kabylie region, near the Mediterranean coast, seven members of a rebel band were slain and the remainder fled.

East of Constantine, near Guelma, French forces raided a rebel hideout and killed 12 members of a band and took most of the rest prisoner.

Near Medea, in the Algiers department, another French attack decimated a group of five or six rebels. Two were killed and three rounded up.

In Paris Premier Mollet summoned his Cabinet to go over the government's Algerian policy prior to the National Assembly debate opening tomorrow on the rebellious North African territory. Mollet called for the debate after former Premier Pierre Mendes-France resigned from the Cabinet, charging that the Socialist premier was not going far enough with political and economic concessions to the rebels.

Seven of 8 Midwest Senators Voted Down Formula on Highways

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seven of the eight senators representing Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas voted with the majority yesterday which defeated, 55 to 27, an amendment of Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) to write into the highway bill the apportionment formula for the interstate system used by the House.

Sen. Schoeppel (R-Kas.) did not vote but was announced as paired against the amendment.

Voting against the amendment were: Fulbright (D-Ark.), Hennings (D-Mo.), Kerr (D-Okla.), McClellan (D-Ark.), Monroney (D-Okla.), Symington (D-Mo.) and Carlson (R-Kas.).

Here is the way the Senators from these states voted in the 42-37 roll call by which the Senate amended its version of the bill to approve a federal prevailing wage provision.

Democrats for — Hennings of Mo., Kerr of Okla., Monroney of Okla., and Symington of Mo.

Republicans for — none.

Democrats against — Fulbright of Ark., McClellan of Ark.

Republicans against — Carlson of Kas.

Sen. Schoeppel (R-Kas.) did not vote but was announced as paired against the measure.

Lee's Summit Citizens Approve Annexation

KANSAS CITY (AP)—In a very light turnout, residents of Lee's Summit, a Kansas City suburb, yesterday voted to annex areas on the west, northeast and south edges of town that would increase the city by one third.

The annexation, effective June 28, was approved 157 to 24.

Local Auto Board Backs Larger Patrol

Approves AAA Club Recommendation Of Increase to 600

A recommendation by the board of governors of the Automobile Club of Missouri that the Missouri State Highway Patrol manpower be increased to 600 men from its present 355 men, was unanimously approved at a meeting of the Sedalia District Advisory Board meeting in Bothwell Hotel Tuesday noon.

Motion for approval was made by Attorney Don S. Lamm, Sedalia, seconded by C. S. Cassingham, Warrensburg, after the group heard a statement read by District Manager Ray S. Lippard, who was host at a steak dinner preceding the meeting.

Advisory board members present were: Guy D. Bailey, Karl Baumber, Henry R. Harris, D. S. Lamm, K. U. Love, C. W. Mathieson, George H. Scruton, E. W. Thompson, A. H. Wilks, Mrs. E. F. Yancey, Milton J. Hinlein, of Sedalia; Herbert D. Brown, Clinton; C. S. Cassingham and William Tucker, Warrensburg; Ellis M. Huston and Elbert L. Sutherland, Windsor. Others present were: Mrs. Lippard, Mrs. Ida Logan, district office secretary 25 years; Mrs. Baumber, Mrs. Harris, Mrs. Lamm, Mrs. Love, Mrs. Wilks, Mrs. Cassingham, Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Huston and Mrs. Sutherland.

Matt F. Morse, president of the Automobile Club of Missouri, made a detailed 54th annual report to the board on club activities during 1955 which among other things disclosed that the club had increased membership to 139,880, of which 6,903 was obtained last year.

Under the high school driver education program 18,320 certificates were issued, making a total of 160,158 since the start of this program. Special emphasis was placed on safety campaigns for adults and children alike. Morse also reported travel, insurance and hospitalization services and many other special services provided to Automobile Club members.

George P. Marsh, St. Louis, vice-president and secretary of the club, also made a few remarks.

Presiding at the meeting was Mr. Lippard.

In support of the recommendation for increasing the number of state highway patrolmen, the statement read by Lippard noted that deaths on Missouri highways reached the shocking total of 1,070 in 1955 and urged that a way must be found to stop the increase and reverse the trend.

Significant figures show that in Pennsylvania, having a mileage death rate of 4.8, a trooper patrols 38 miles of highways. In Connecticut, with a 3.1 death rate, a trooper patrols 18 miles. In Massachusetts, with a 3.8 death rate, a trooper patrols 9 miles.

But in Missouri a trooper patrols 114 miles, and the death rate is 6.0.

Of the 355 men in the Missouri Highway Patrol only 245 are actually available for patrol duty and these not available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Leave and vacation accounts for 23 per cent of their time. This is equivalent to 37 men being off duty all the time. With 188 men available each day, taking a 12-hour shift, there are only 94 men actually patrolling the state highways at the same time.

The conclusion drawn from these facts is, according to the Advisory Board's recommendation, that Missouri must bring the number of patrolmen on duty up and the number of miles per trooper down to a safety manpower standard.

Hearing to Start Monday—

Communist Investigation Causes Stir in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, May 30 (AP)—Plans of the House Committee on Un-American Activities to investigate Communist activities in the St. Louis area at a hearing next week already have generated a lot of controversy.

Rep. Moulder (D-Mo.), head of a subcommittee which will conduct the hearing starting Monday, says 40 to 50 witnesses have been subpoenaed. It is expected to last three or four days.

The St. Louis Bar Assn. offered its services to obtain counsel for witnesses who find it difficult to get lawyers in "an unpopular cause."

Walter R. Schneider, former state representative and an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in 1928, announced he would resign from the association. He said he did not want to "knowingly contribute" to a Communist cause.

Lon Hocker of St. Louis, a past president of the association, and a candidate this year for the GOP nomination for governor, praised the bar association last night for its stand.

"In the last several years we have seen a rash of congressional investigations designed not to fulfill a genuine legislative function, but to propagandize the American people," Hocker told the St. Louis Civil Liberties committee.

Moulder said the hearing next week will have "special reference to Communist infiltration in industrial plants engaged largely in defense work, and the extent, character and objects of Communist efforts of infiltration in mass organizations."

Pamphlets and circulars criticizing Moulder's subcommittee, including a statement by the Communist Party of St. Louis, suggesting the witnesses invoke the Fifth Amendment, have been circulated.

Will Attend Air Force Show June 24

President Gives His Approval of Chief Of Staff's Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—With President Eisenhower's blessing, Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force Chief of staff, today accepted an invitation to attend Russia's Air Force show June 24.

An announcement by Secretary of the Air Force Quarles said that in addition to authorization from Eisenhower, Twining's visit to the Soviet Union also had been approved by Secretary of State Dulles and Secretary of Defense Wilson.

Twining will be accompanied by several Air Force officers.

But there was no word in the terse announcement that any of the other four members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff would make the trip.

When word of the invitation to Twining first got out last week top government officials let it be known they would give serious consideration to any bid for the joint chiefs to visit Russia.

When word of the invitation to Twining first got out last week top government officials let it be known they would give serious consideration to any bid for the joint chiefs to visit Russia.

Moscow, however, did not take the hint.

Quarles' announcement capped a week of polite fencing in Moscow and Washington.

Twining late Tuesday finally took personal delivery of the formal invitation.

The cautious Russian approach to Twining was made on May 21, when the air attaché of the Soviet Embassy here called on a U. S. Air Force intelligence colonel and told him his superiors in Moscow wanted to invite Twining to the air show.

Twining reported that approach to the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, and directly to the State Department.

The matter was kept secret until publication of a newspaper story, based on information from United Nations sources, that the Soviets intended to invite all of the U. S. military chiefs.

The administration then let it be known unofficially that if such an invitation were received it would be given serious consideration, but that any bid would have to come through acceptable diplomatic channels.

Chemist to Return After Admitting He Was Once a Red Spy

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Atlas Refinery Co. says it will readmit to its plant here chemist Thomas L. Black, who testified that he once was a Soviet spy.

Black, who was on loan to Atlas from P. H. Hellie Co. of Worcester, Mass., was ordered to leave the plant May 18, 24 hours after he testified before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

At the time, Atlas President Arthur F. Schroeder Jr. said he had "no use for Communists, whether they're reformed or not."

Yesterday Schroeder announced he had decided to reinstate Black after studying the chemist's testimony before the subcommittee and after a "very satisfactory conference" with FBI agents.

Black, a Newark resident, informed the Senate group he had spied for the Soviets before 1946 and then worked for the FBI.

Dr. Kirby Talks About Convention

Dr. Donald K. Kirby gave an interesting report at the noon meeting of the Optimist Club Tuesday at Bothwell Hotel on the 32nd Annual Convention, 10th District Optimist International, which he attended at Lincoln, Neb., May 3-5.

The trip was made by train and, said Dr. Kirby, when you go by car you see the front yards and when you go by train you see the back yards. He felt that a bird that lit on a tiny piece of wood in the Missouri river, which he noticed from the train, must have been an Optimist, or he would never tried such a perch.

The Sedalia Optimist Club came in for praise at the convention when it was referred to as a lively little club and the singing in particular was complimented. The projecting on the wall of the words of the song, the idea of Charles Hanna, song leader, impressed the district officers. They were impressed, too, with the Sedalia Optimist Little League Baseball under the direction of Fred Arbogast.

One of the things that amazed Dr. Kirby at the convention was the oratory contest with youngsters 11 to 16 participating. The subject was "Freedom, Our Most Precious Heritage," and, he stated, "They brought out many things that make you stop and think."

The report told of banquets, luncheons, the outstanding speakers and the campaign, at which time five lieutenant governors were elected.

Charles Hurtt, president, conducted the meeting, with invocation by the Rev. J. W. Watts.

Fred Arbogast made a short talk on the success the Optimist Little League team has been having again this season.

1-Year-Old Swallows Two Safety Pins

SHELBYVILLE, Mo. (AP)—One-year-old Neita Latchford has two safety pins in her stomach but a physician says he is hesitant about an operation because of her age.

Dr. Howard Dutton examined the child closely yesterday to decide whether to operate or let nature take its course. He said Neita was in satisfactory condition.

The little girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Latchford, swallowed the pins as her father was preparing her for bed Saturday night.

Japanese Have Mass Hysteria On Radiation

TOKYO (AP)—"Radiation neurosis" is reported hitting a new high among the Japanese, twice the targets of American A-bombs in World War II.

The big conservative newspaper Asahi reported fear of dangerous radioactive fall-out from nuclear tests is especially acute in southwestern Honshu, the main Japanese island. Residents of Osaka, Kobe and Kyoto are showing signs of mass hysteria, the newspaper reported.

The government has said little to counter the fears and rumors, although local authorities have scotched some individual reports of injuries from "radioactive rain."

Radiation dangers have been emphasized heavily in Japan since the wartime bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, and particularly since the 1954 Bikini H-bomb test "dusted" the fishing boat Lucky Dragon and its crew of 23 Japanese. The latest wave of fall-out fear stems from the current nuclear weapon tests the United States is conducting in the Bikini Atoll, 2,200 miles southeast of Japan.

The first test explosion at Bikini this year occurred May 5, and on May 21 a hydrogen bomb was dropped there. Last Monday the Tokyo Central Weather Station reported atmospheric pressure readings indicated another hydrogen blast had been set off, but the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission has neither confirmed nor denied this.

The announcement that the United States would conduct the tests touched off a rash of protest meetings and petitions in Japan. The tempo of the reaction stepped up as the test date approached, underlined by American assurances that the testing site was sufficiently remote to insure dissipation of the radioactive particles before they reached populated areas.

Japanese scientists maintain a constant check on radioactivity in the local rainfall, with the results published almost daily. The reports are always negative, but this hasn't stopped fear of "radioactive rain," according to Asahi.

'Oliver Twist' Theft Solved by Police

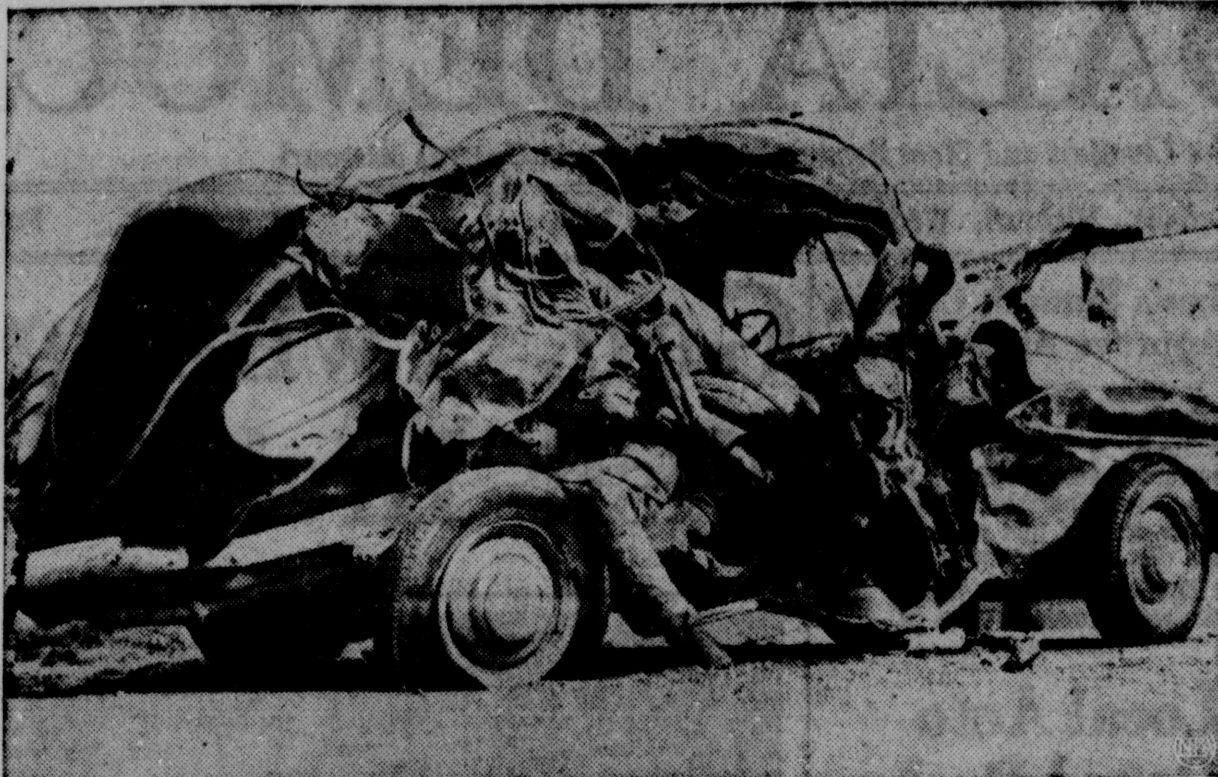

DALLAS (AP)—Police solved an "Oliver Twist" burglary last night. They rounded up four pint-sized partners in crime after four silver dollars and a carton of cigarettes were taken from the home of Roy Crowell.

Two 8-year-old boys and a 7-year-old admitted they boosted a 3-year-old boy into the house through a tiny window.

However, just like Dickens' bed-ragged little hero, the 3-year-old crossed up his pals. He reported back outside with no loot.

Later, he returned alone, he told police, and took the cigarettes and money all for himself.

But they were and not only that, but they've just been released from the hospital. They were among six injured when the car crashed into some farm equipment in Delaware Township, N.J. Two girl passengers are in serious condition.

Navy Announces New Tracking Station For Earth Satellites

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Capt. A. B. Metzger, deputy chief of naval research, announced today a special radio and radar tracking station will be established in the West Indies.

He said it will be set up in the eastern section for use in connection with the space satellite to be launched more than a year hence from Patrick Air Force Base in Florida.

"The purpose of this station is to obtain an initial fix on the satellite right after it has been launched," Metzger said in an address prepared for the Aviation Writers Assn.

"This will make it possible to determine whether the vehicle actually was established in an orbit, and to estimate the orbit in a preliminary and a very rough fashion."

"The United States plans to launch a small sphere, 20 inches in diameter, into an orbit around the earth at an altitude of 200 miles or more. Its lifetime might be 15 days."

Metzger said the initial information could enable scientists to "localize" the time of arrival of this sphere over any given ground location to within six minutes and its position to within several hundred miles in the initial orbit.

Former Child Star Becomes a Father

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Child Star Baby Leroy, who retired 20 years ago at the age of 4, is about to become a father.

As Baby Leroy, Overacker was an infant movie star during the 1930s. He began his career at 8 months. After his retirement he grew up in nearby Alhambra and obscurity with his mother.

Most of UN Council Likes British Idea

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A majority of the U.N. Security Council was committed today in favor of a British proposal to have Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld keep working for peace between the Arabs and Israel.

But the Arabs were dubious and the stand of the Soviet Union, which has a veto, was unknown.

Britain introduced the resolution yesterday after Hammarskjöld reported to the council on his month long mission to the Middle East and the cease-fire pledges he obtained from Israel, Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon and Syria.

Eight of the 11 council members, in three hours of speeches, supported the British proposal fully or in principle. The council adjourned until tomorrow.

Arab delegates, who are not on the council but whose views count heavily with council members Iran and Russia, showed revisions in the resolution had failed to meet their contention that it was not worded tightly enough to keep Hammarskjöld from working to foster a permanent Arab-Israeli peace settlement.

Sir Pierson Dixon of Britain, presenting the proposal, said the few changes in wording aimed at "accuracy and clarity." But Omar Loutfi of Egypt told reporters it still was not clear to him.

The last paragraph would have the council request Hammarskjöld "to continue his good offices with the parties, and to report to the Security Council as appropriate." Reading this, Loutfi asked, "Good offices to do what?"

The Arabs were known to fear that long-standing U.N. decisions on Palestine which have never been carried out — the 1947 partition plan, for example — might now be abandoned.

Sen. Clements Has Big Win In Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Sen. Earle C. Clements has won a thumping renomination victory over the candidate backed by Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler's forces in the Kentucky Democratic senatorial primary.

Clements, the Senate majority whip, rolled up a surprisingly easy triumph over Chandler-backed Joe B. Bates, a former U.S. representative, in yesterday's senatorial primary, thus adding the people's mandate to the power he wielded in the state Democratic organization.

Clements will tangle in the Nov. 6 election with Republican Thorton B. Morton, who captured his party's nomination handily.

Returns from 3,625 of Kentucky's 4,036 precincts gave:

Clements 204,994; Bates 125,184; James L. Delk 3,494.

Morton 37,748; former State Sen. Julian H. Golden 10,872; Granville Thomas 4,252.

The President lost this normally Democratic state by 700 votes to Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson in 1952.

Six of Kentucky's eight U.S. representatives who had primary opposition led in their races for renomination. They were Democrats Noble J. Gregory, William H. Natcher, Brent Spence, John C. Watts, and Carl D. Perkins, and Republican Gene Siler. Gregory was Chandler-backed. Natcher, Watts and Perkins are Clements allies.

The hall was decorated with baskets of purple and white flowers. The lighted cross, on a background of white with a border of purple and green, carried the theme of friendship and loyalty in silver letters.

Special guests were John Owen, Associate Grand Patron of the Grand Chapter; Mrs. Hilda Sellman, District Deputy Grand Matron of the 36th District; Grand Representatives, Mrs. Bennie Nave and Mrs. Lucille White, both of Sedalia, and Mrs. Lela Owen, Warsaw. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and the centerpiece carried the emblem of the year, swans, and the colors, and the colors, purple, green, violet, and white and the flower of the year, violets.

About 150 guests and members were present.

LINGERIE TROUSSEAU — Delicate lace-trimmed nylon tricot peignoir with matching gown, slip, petticoat, pajamas and other items, designed by Yolande for the bride-on-a-budget.

Manufacturers Make Clothes To Fit Budget-Bride's Purse

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Today's bride is a smart cookie. She knows that she must count her pennies, and she understands also the importance of being glamorous.

When she selects her lingerie trousseau she has two things in mind: It must be dainty, feminine and easy to care for, and it also must be priced within her budget.

She's a lucky girl, because many manufacturers are turning out lovely, sheer, romantic-looking gowns, negligees and underthings these days, priced to fit the purse of the budget bride. The over-all favorite in the lingerie lineup is, of course, sheer nylon tricot, which can be permanently pleated, trimmed with elaborate lace frills and still be as easy to wash as a pair of stockings.

The days when a girl started at the age of 10 sewing dainty things for her hope chest are long gone. When Grandma was a girl she bought yards upon yards of fine lawn and batiste and stitched up lacy petticoats and befrilled nightgowns by hand. The time she spent making them plus the time it took to launder them would appall any modern miss.

Life is easier today. The most fragile-looking confections of tiny pleats and delicate lace, which look as gauzy as cobwebs, are made of sturdy nylon which can be dunked in the washbowl at night, hung to dry and be ready to wear next morning with every pleat and ruffle beautifully in place.

The usual trousseau lingerie is available in a range of pastels and white, with the beige suntan tones growing more popular.

One manufacturer offers a seven-piece lingerie trousseau consisting of short nightie, slip, petticoat, pajamas, night shirt, waltz length gown and matching peignoir. Individual items range from about $6 to about $11.

Other makers have similar items in approximately the same price range, widely available at shops throughout the country.

Salt Fork Cemetery Club Holds Meeting

The Salt Fork Cemetery Club met Tuesday afternoon at the Salt Fork Church for its regular monthly meeting. The president, Mrs. M. R. Gillespie, presided over the meeting. Mrs. Bud Griffith, chaplain, led the devotional service. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Harold Holder.

A cash donation was received from Janice Montgomery, daughter of the late Will Montgomery, to be used for the upkeep of the cemetery. She and her mother have recently moved to California.

Plans were made for the annual home coming to be held at the Salt Fork Church on the fifth Sunday in July. Plans were also made for a meeting when the church will be cleaned. The date to be set later.

Patches Can Be Decorative For Little Boys

AP Newsfeatures

Small boys in the creeper stage often wear out their clothes long before they outgrow them. Often patching is necessary, especially at the knees.

Local sewing center experts point out that patches can be decorative as well as functional, or instance, why not make two gay drums for knee patches on a toddler's overalls?

Just to make the constant falling easier on the youngster, padded patches are recommended. Here's the technique for making the drums: Draw pattern on brown paper. Cut out two drums, leaving a full inch seam allowance all around. old a piece of flannel or old sheeting to make several layers, and cut to the pattern of the drum, leaving no seam allowance. Use bias tape for the rims of the drums. Stitch rick-rack in criss-cross design on the drums as decorations and to hold the quilting in place.

Baste in place on the knees of the overalls. Using your automatic zigzag or your automatic swing-needle machine, work around the outline of the drum, using a narrow satin stitch. Trim away excess fabric close to the line of stitching.

First of Home Tour Series--

Old-Fashioned Parlors Are Returning In Home Plans

The attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bunn, 1506 South Barrett, is a combination of red brick and dark gray shingles with a small white porch and white door. The house faces east.

The door leads into entrance hall paved with a small patterned paper that is just the right setting for the lovely chest in the corner. Off to the north is what Mrs. Bunn calls her parlor and she has found it quite a delight. The plans of the old-fashioned homes were right, she thinks, because the parlor is always in order for entertaining guests that drop in. Other people probably have thought the same thing, because parlors are coming back.

There is indeed real charm in this particular parlor with its soft green carpeting and its three walls of the same shade with the fourth wall a huge scene from which the green and rose beige shades of the upholstered chairs come. The lovely floor-length draperies at the picture window are also of the soft green, as is the antique sofa. The piano and the graceful antique pieces in the room are all of the dark red mahogany finish. The shutter doors are also green.

To the south the hall leads to the bedrooms, the first being the room of their nine-year-old boy. In this room, which is typically a boy's room, are blue walls and cafe curtains, and on one wall is a big map of the world. Lightly penciled lines show a couple of imaginary trips he has taken. The bunk bed offers a place for some of his little boy friends who come over to spend the night.

The little girl's room is very feminine with a color scheme of brown and pink, and keeping watch over it are two white autograph dogs covered with names of youngsters. The bathroom at the end of the hall is in green and rose beige, with light green tile and darker green trim.

The back bedroom has green wallpaper, and green is carried out in the color scheme of the room. Along the south side, beneath the windows, is the long built-in dresser with vanity and drawers, and off the room is an alcove.

Another bathroom is in rose beige with darker trim. All the new gadgets may be found in the Bunn kitchen, with even its wallpaper featuring kitchen utensils, and on the floor is green linoleum. The light oak woodwork and cabinets make a very attractive room, and in the breakfast nook is wainscot of wide boards. The breakfast set is of gray and black, and the curtains at the windows on the west side of the kitchen are white with wide bands of bitter-sweet, with the colors picked up from the wallpaper.

Of all the new and convenient things about the home, perhaps the most appreciated by Mrs. Bunn is the dust trap in the small hall closet just off the kitchen. What to do with the dust after it has been swept up has always been a problem to a housewife. Why hasn't somebody thought of this before, a dust trap that shoots the dust on down into the basement and into the can fastened on to the bottom of the chute? That old system of using a dust pan never seemed to work very well; it always left a little streak of dust. Although there are the ovens, the dish washer, the room divider with the stove burners on top—nothing quite excels the little long, narrow opening in the floor of the broom closet where you can just sweep the dirt into it and forget it.

While the parlor is for unexpected guests, the real living room of the home is in the back and is the most cheerful and comfortable room imaginable, with its Early American furniture. This very large room, where the Bunn family spends a great deal of their time, is at the back of the home and a big window on the west side looks out into the garden, giving a lovely view. The floor of the room is covered with cork tile, and in the center are two large oval shaped braided rugs. A large cabinet on the north side of the room opens to reveal a television set. It stays out of sight when not in use. Above the cabinet is a bookcase, and on the east side of it is a massive fireplace. The dining area is at the extreme east of the big room.

This is the Bunn home, attractive and livable, a house that just seems to have been built for the lovely period furniture that makes it such a fascinating place.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson plans to spend several days at the central Pacific proving grounds, where this country is currently conducting hydrogen weapons tests.

Forest Fire Brought Under Control

RUIDOSO, N.M. (AP)—A forest fire which for a time posed a threat to this southern New Mexico resort town early today was reported confined but not controlled.

Unless there is a sudden increase in wind, Forest Service officials said it is not likely that the timber fire will spread beyond its present 350-acre area.

The blaze was termed a definite threat to this horse racing center until a fortunate shift in wind and decrease in wind velocity late yesterday stopped it only a mile from the post office in what is known as Upper Ruidoso.

A hundred soldiers from Walker Air Force Base, Roswell, spent the night widening buffer lines thrown up around the perimeter of the blaze under the supervision of Forest Service fire control officers.

Two British Soldiers Killed by Cypriot Bombing of Truck

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A bomb tossed into the back of an army truck crowded with British soldiers killed two and wounded 20 others outside Famagusta today. Twelve of the wounded were described as in serious condition. British authorities attributed the bomb tossing to EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground.

The troops were returning to their camp after a rehearsal for a parade to mark tomorrow's observance of the Queen's birthday. A strict curfew was immediately slapped on the town.

The deaths brought to 33 the number of British troops killed in rebel attacks on the British island colony where Cypriots of Greek descent are fighting to unite with Greece.

The groom is James P. Hayes, 30, a suburban Clayton lawyer seeking the Democratic nomination for attorney general. "I've known girls who've said they simply wouldn't marry a

Program Ends A Vacation Bible School

By Mrs. M. R. Gillespie
BLACKWATER — The Union Daily Vacation Bible School closed Friday with a program at 8 p.m. at the Blackwater school auditorium. There were 48 pupils enrolled with more than 30 having a perfect attendance record. The Rev. N. O. Wetherell, pastor of the Federated Church, was school superintendent.

Irvin Kueckelhan, Olympia, Wash., arrived Tuesday evening for a visit of several days with his mother, Mrs. A. Kueckelhan, and his sisters, Mrs. Robert O'Neal and Mrs. Riley O'Neal, and their husbands. Mr. Kueckelhan is en route to St. Louis on a business trip.

Dr. and Mrs. C. D. Lueckert left Wednesday for Arlington, Va., where they are guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lueckert, and two children.

Old-Fashioned Parlors Are Returning In Home Plans

The attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bunn, 1506 South Barrett, is a combination of red brick and dark gray shingles with a small white porch and white door. The house faces east.

The door leads into entrance hall papered with a small patterned paper that is just the right setting for the lovely chest in the corner.

Off to the north is what Mrs. Bunn calls her parlor and she has found it quite a delight. The plans of the old-fashioned homes were right, she thinks, because the parlor is always in order for entertaining guests that drop in. Other people probably have thought the same thing, because parlors are coming back.

There is indeed real charm in this particular parlor with its soft green carpeting and its three walls of the same shade with the fourth wall a huge scene from which the green and rose beige shades of the upholstered chairs come. The lovely floor-length draperies at the picture window are also of the soft green, as is the antique sofa. The piano and the graceful antique pieces in the room are all of the dark red mahogany finish. The shutter doors are also green.

To the south the hall leads to the bedrooms, the first being the room of their nine-year-old boy. In this room, which is typically a boy's room, are blue walls and cafe curtains, and on one wall is a big map of the world. Lightly penciled lines show a couple of imaginary trips he has taken. The bunk bed offers a place for some of his little boy friends who come over to spend the night.

The little girl's room is very feminine with a color scheme of brown and pink, and keeping watch over it are two white autograph dogs covered with names of youngsters.

The bathroom at the end of the hall is in green and rose beige, with light green tile and darker green trim.

The back bedroom has green wallpaper, and green is carried out in the color scheme of the room. Along the south side, beneath the windows, is the long built-in dresser with vanity and drawers, and off the room is an alcove.

Another bathroom is in rose beige with darker trim.

All the new gadgets may be found in the Bunn kitchen, with even its wallpaper featuring kitchen utensils, and on the floor is green linoleum. The light oak woodwork and cabinets make a very attractive room, and in the breakfast nook is wainscot of wide boards. The breakfast set is of gray and black, and the curtains at the windows on the west side of the kitchen are white with wide bands of bitter-sweet, with the colors picked up from the wallpaper.

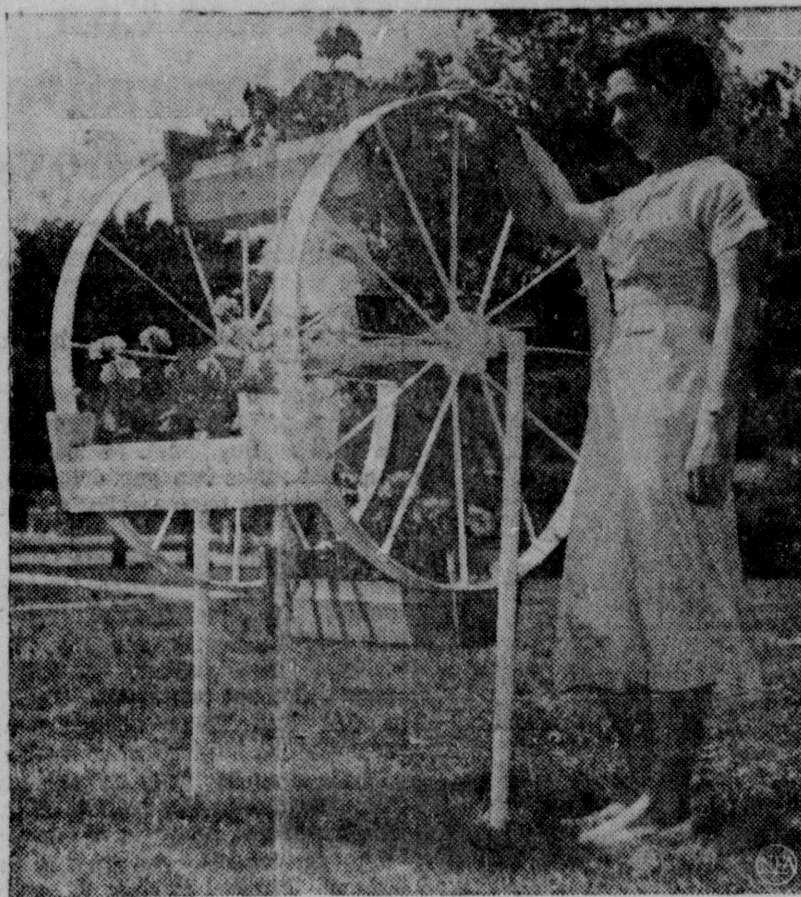

Of all the new and convenient things about the home, perhaps the most appreciated by Mrs. Bunn is the dust trap in the small hall closet just off the kitchen. What to do with the dust after it has been swept up has always been a problem to a housewife. Why hasn't somebody thought of this before, a dust trap that shoots the dust on down into the basement and into the can fastened on to the bottom of the chute? That old system of using a dust pan never seemed to work very well; it always left a little streak of dust. Although there are the ovens, the dish washer, the room divider with the stove burners on top — nothing quite excels the little long, narrow opening in the floor of the broom closet where you can just sweep the dirt into it and forget it.

While the parlor is for unexpected guests, the real living room of the home is in the back and is the most cheerful and comfortable room imaginable, with its Early American furniture. This very large room, where the Bunn family spends a great deal of their time, is at the back of the home and a big window on the west side looks out into the garden, giving a lovely view. The floor of the room is covered with cork tile, and in the center are two large oval shaped braided rugs. A large cabinet on the north side of the room opens to reveal a television set. It stays out of sight when not in use. Above the cabinet is a bookcase, and on the east side of it is a massive fireplace. The dining area is at the extreme east of the big room.

This is the Bunn home, attractive and livable, a house that just seems to have been built for the lovely period furniture that makes it such a fascinating place.

A WHEEL CUTIE IDEA—Here's an ingenious item that should challenge the do-it-yourself man of your household. The "floral Ferris wheel," contrived from iron pipes, a couple of old iron wheels and some easily made wooden flower boxes was put together by staff members of the city hospital at Oswego, Kan. The flower boxes are fastened to the wheels. Admiring the creation is Martha Stapleton.

Secretary of Defense To Spend Several Days In H-Bomb Test Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson plans to spend several days at the central Pacific proving grounds, where this country is currently conducting hydrogen weapons tests.

Announcing yesterday that Wilson plans to leave Washington Saturday, the Defense Department did not say specifically he will see an H-bomb test.

That may depend upon whether weather conditions permit a test during the time he is able to stay in the area.

About Town

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnson and children, Beth and Stevie of New Rochelle, N.Y., left Tuesday after a visit with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Borne, 1315 South Kentucky. Mr. and Mrs. Borne have visiting them their little granddaughter, Christy Engle of Marshall.

Farm Job Report

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—It takes the output of 250 farm workers to meet the food requirements of every 1,000 new industrial jobs, according to Robert C. Hinton, a vice president of a local electric firm.

Forest Fire Brought Under Control

RUIDOSO, N.M. (AP)—A forest fire which for a time posed a threat to this southern New Mexico resort town early today was reported confined but not controlled.

Unless there is a sudden increase in wind, Forest Service officials said it is not likely that the timber fire will spread beyond its present 350-acre area.

The blaze was termed a definite threat to this horse racing center until a fortunate shift in wind and decrease in wind velocity late yesterday stopped it only a mile from the post office in what is known as Upper Ruidoso.

A hundred soldiers from Walker Air Force Base, Roswell, spent the night widening buffer lines thrown up around the perimeter of the blaze under the supervision of Forest Service fire control officers.

Two British Soldiers Killed by Cypriot Bombing of Truck

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A bomb tossed into the back of an army truck crowded with British soldiers killed two and wounded 20 others outside Famagusta today. Twelve of the wounded were described as in serious condition. British authorities attributed the bomb tossing to EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground.

The troops were returning to their camp after a rehearsal for a parade to mark tomorrow's observance of the Queen's birthday. A strict curfew was immediately slapped on the town.

The deaths brought to 33 the number of British troops killed in rebel attacks on the British island colony where Cypriots of Greek descent are fighting to unite with Greece.

Democrat and GOP Candidate to Marry

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two candidates for political office, a Democrat and a Republican, are going to be married but haven't decided whether it will be before or after the November elections.

"Let's keep politics out of this," said Miss Joyce Pueser, 27, the bride-to-be. She is unopposed for the GOP nomination for state representative.

The groom is James P. Hayes, 30, a suburban Clayton lawyer seeking the Democratic nomination for attorney general.

"I've known girls who've said they simply wouldn't marry a

Senate to Question Fred Seaton About GOP Power Policies

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a switch of plans, Chairman Murray (D-Mont) said today the Senate Interior Committee will question Fred A. Seaton about administration power policies before passing on him for a Cabinet post.

Seaton, now a deputy assistant to President Eisenhower, was nominated by the President Monday to be secretary of the interior. Murray said shortly afterward he expected his committee to recommend confirmation without a formal hearing.

While continuing to predict Seaton will win senate confirmation, Murray said today he has asked Seaton to appear at a committee hearing Monday morning for "some questions about the partnership power policies" of the Eisenhower administration.

Many Democrats have assailed these policies as administered by Douglas McKay, who resigned as secretary of the interior April 15 to seek the Republican nomination, which he later won, to run for the Senate against Sen. Morse (D-Ore).

Birthday Call Is Postponed By Lightning

If it was a loud and shaky phone call Miss Barbara Kelley, 17, 1319 East Sixth, was making about 7:30 p.m. Tuesday from a telephone booth in front of the Dogs n' Suds, 1120 South Limit, it was because of lightning hitting in the neighborhood while she stood in the small enclosed aluminum telephone booth.

"Tuesday was Barbara's 17th birthday and almost ended in a tragedy," her mother remarked Wednesday morning in discussing the experience of her daughter.

Barbara wasn't hurt, but she was shaken and stunned from what happened. "But," she says, "I'm still not afraid of lightning."

The young lady, a car hop, at the Dogs n' Suds, was attempting to call her mother to have her send out a raincoat. "I remember dropping the dime in the telephone. There was a sharp crack and followed by split seconds of a numb feeling at my ear and head, then all over my body. Somehow I got out of the phone booth and Mr. J. O. Miller took me home. I'm a little shaky today, but I didn't get hurt," she told a reporter.

Mrs. Charles Snyder, her mother, called Dr. T. J. Hopkins and consulted with him by telephone. After learning the symptoms he said she would be alright and to just stay at home and rest, inasmuch as she had no signs of burns or anything dangerous.

It was reported the lightning struck a bank of transformers at 11th and Limit, and an arc probably jumped to the telephone line and followed it to the ground. The phone is well-grounded and there was little danger of a burn being suffered.

The lightning knocked out the whiteway lights on Limit from 11th to 15th.

According to Richard H. Johnson, when the lightning struck he was looking out the windows of the Dairy Queen, 14th and Limit, and fire was jumping all over the place up in the 1100 block.

Barbara is a student at the Smith-Cotton High School and next year will be a senior.

Federal Employees Increase for Fourth Consecutive Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of civilian employees of the federal government increased in April for the fourth consecutive month, Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said today.

He gave the increase from March to April as 6,954 and said it brought the total to 2,359,611.

Byrd, reporting as chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures, said the biggest increases occurred in the Departments of Agriculture, Interior, Commerce and Air Force.

"This was the 12th consecutive monthly increase in civilian employment by the Air Force," he said. "The cumulative increase being 32,761."

Asks Congress For Higher Postal Rates

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Post Office Committee called on Congress today to face up to a $1,000-a-minute postal deficit by enacting higher mail rates.

A committee report said the average annual deficit of the Post Office Department is running about 460 million dollars.

"The fact is we are losing $1,000 a minute," the report said, and added:

"The committee recognizes that continued delay (in enacting rate boosts) will not solve the fiscal problems of the Post Office department."

The committee has approved a bill to raise rates on first, second and third class mail. The increases have been asked by the administration. As recommended by the committee, the boosts would add an estimated 432 million dollars a year to postal revenues.

The committee report on the bill was made available to a reporter today after its filing with the House clerk. It will be published generally later.

House leaders have been silent on the chances of a postal rate increase this year.

But yesterday Rep. McCormack (D-Mass.), majority leader, said preliminary results from a poll among Democratic House members showed "strong feeling" against raising the price of a letter stamp from 3 to 4 cents.

The committee's bill calls for such a raise.

Its report said that "currently first-class mail not only fails to meet its allocated costs but also fails to make any payment whatever for certain additional costs of providing first-class service."

The committee said first-class mail could be charged at a rate of 5 or 6 cents a letter "and still not be overpriced."

The report noted the cost figures did not take into account preferential treatment given first-class mail adding:

"The entire postal service is geared to the handling of letter mail."

The committee said rate increases are long overdue on second-class mail, newspapers and magazines.

The report said the loss in handling second-class mail in the last 10 years has been about two billion dollars, which it said is levied against taxpayers in general.

Third-class mail rates, applying principally to advertising matter, also would go up under the committee's bill.

Flood Hits South Part of Indiana; 250 Families Move

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Indiana's flood problems centered today in the valley of the White River's east fork in south central Indiana, with 250 families already evacuated near Columbus and Edinburg and floodwaters rising.

The White was almost four feet over flood stage at Columbus this morning, and the Weather Bureau said the river may rise another foot and a half today.

Downstream at Seymour, the crest expected at 2 a.m. Thursday may be 4½ feet over flood stage.

The heaviest overnight showers were far to the north, in the Wabash River basin, and will not affect the flood situation. Floodwaters receded in central Indiana, and 2,200 evacuated families already were moving back into their homes, mostly around Indianapolis.

Pyle Says He Did Not Draw White House Reprimand for Remark

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Howard Pyle, deputy presidential assistant, says he did not draw a White House reprimand for his "right to suffer" remark in Detroit.

Pyle, former Arizona governor, told newsmen upon his arrival Tuesday night that "It might interest you to know that the president and I have never even discussed it."

Pyle set off a furor May 21 in Detroit with an off-the-cuff comment to reporters in a hotel room that "The right to suffer is one of the joys of a free enterprise economy, just as the right to prosper is."

Walter Reuther, leader of the United Automobile Workers, charged Pyle was making light of the plight of unemployed auto workers, and demanded an apology.

Pyle said he prepared the apology himself and turned it over to Asst. Press Secretary Murray Murray Snyder for release.

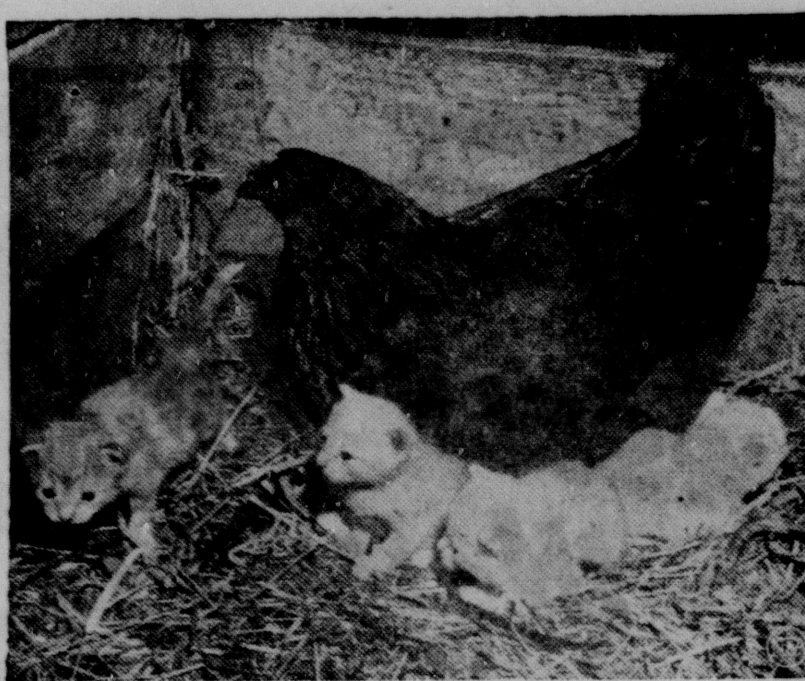

Pyle added that he had seen President Eisenhower twice since then and "The President hasn't said one word to me about it."

There were five fuses burned out, and one was knocked out of the fuse box. The lightning jumped to the television antenna down into the radio, and followed the light wire to the wall socket serving the radio, knocking it off the wall.

Sedalia's Perry Music Company Is in 100th Year of Publishing

Before Sedalia even existed, perhaps was not even a dream, a man of culture with a love for music realized that many people throughout the country also appreciated the finer things of life and was inspired to organize a music publishing firm a hundred years ago, at St. Joseph. It was 14 years later that Austin W. Perry, in 1870, moved to Sedalia and started out selling pianos in a wagon from door to door. His firm was known as the Perry Music Co.

Perry was a talented musician and composer and a man of unlimited energy. It was several years after coming to Sedalia that he put out the first issue of Perry's Musical Magazine, setting the type doing the entire job of publication by himself. This magazine is now in its 75th year. The circulation of that magazine has grown until today its circulation includes not only the entire United States but all parts of the world, France, Africa, Finland, Canada, South America and Cuba.

When this magazine first appeared it contained approximately ten selections of music for the piano and an article on the life of a great pianist. Today the magazine contains piano selections, organ works

Checks Report Of Dominican Being Burned

NEW YORK (AP)—The district attorney says he is probing a report that Dr. Jesus de Galindez, foe of Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic, was thrown alive into the flaming furnace of a freighter.

Galindez, a lecturer at Columbia University, vanished last March. He was an outspoken opponent of the Trujillo regime in the tiny Spanish-speaking Caribbean republic.

Yesterday representative of the Dominican Revolutionary party picketed the law offices of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who is legal counsel here for the Dominican Republic.

During the demonstration, Nicholas Silfa, a spokesman for the party, told newsmen Galindez was shanghaied sometime between March 13 and 16 when the Dominican Steamship Line's freighter Fundacion was in port here. He later repeated the story to investigators from the office of Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan.

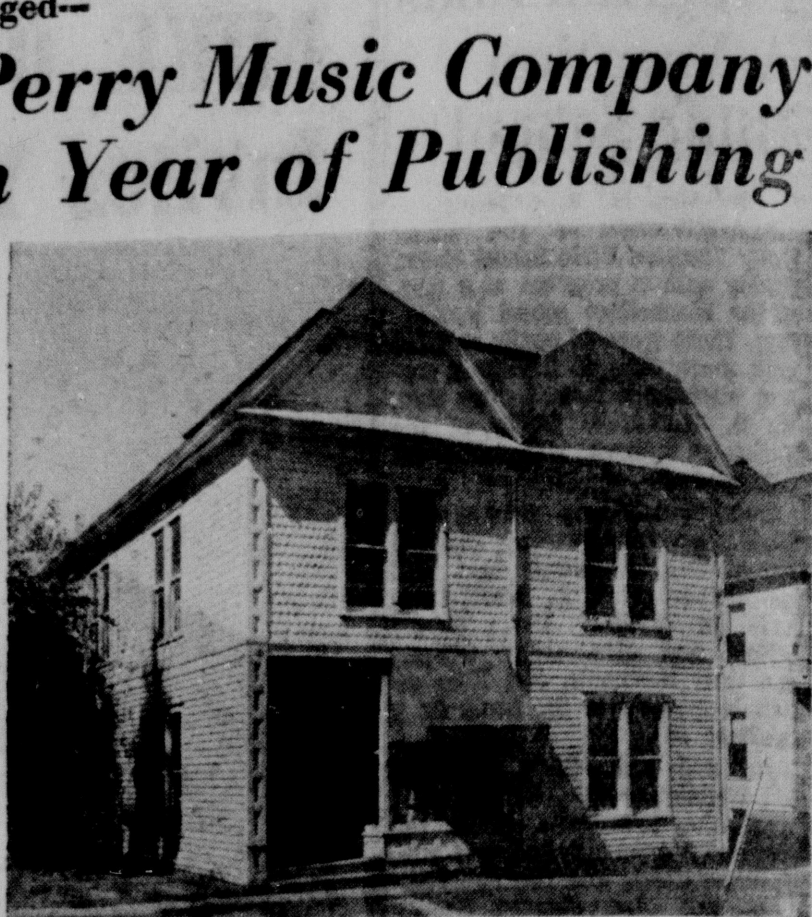

"We got it right from the ship herself," said Silfa. "Dr. Galindez was kidnapped onto the Fundacion and thrown alive into the boiler. Our contacts in the underground told us the story."

Later, Hogan's office said Silfa had been questioned about the report, and the books and records of the New York agent of the steamship line had been subpoenaed.

The crew of the vessel will be questioned when the ship docks here again on June 7.

The Dominican Revolutionary party center here described the murder theory as "fantastic" and Silfa's activities as "dramatic publicity-seeking by any and all means."

and songs, but to some extent still the original format is followed.

Among the best known music published by the Perry Music Co. are: "School Days" by J. Owen Long; "Angel's Twilight Serenade" and "His Wonderful Garden of Prayer" by Nellie B. Scott; "In Dreams I Am a Child Again" and "Polish Rhapsody" by Austin W. Perry; "Hiawatha's Twilight Dream," "There's a Place for You in Youth Mother's Arms," "Waiting for the Bluebird" and "Whispering in the Moonlight" by Frank Fishback. Other composers represented are John Martin, who made several fine arrangements of Stephen Foster music, Harold M. Smith, E. J. Morgan, M. Thea Hays, Leon E. Simmons and G. Holcombe.

Latest publications are "Tear-drops of a Rose" by Frank Fishback, and "I Am Rich" and "God's Ways Are Best" by Ethel Jones.

The oldest of Perry's two sons, Philip B. Perry, joined the organization at an early age. A talented musician, he studied in Germany and Vienna five years, in Germany under Kullak-Klindworth-Reif and in Vienna under Leschetizky. He composed and arranged many numbers which brought him great acclaim published under the pseudonym of M. W. Butler. Some of his best loved works are his brilliant variations on sacred melodies and old home songs. Philip died a few years ago in his late 90s and until the end carried on the dreams and ideals of his noted father.

Andrew J. Perry, a younger son of the founder, was also associated with the organization and managed

Not Just Another Holiday...

Memorial Day should be more than just another holiday. It should be a day for remembering not only the soldier but also the civilian dead.

Originally May 30 became a holiday to honor soldiers killed in the American Civil War. Several southern states so observed the day even before end of that war. Until 1868 there was no fixed date in the north for such observance. Then on May 5 of that year Maj. Gen. John A. Logan, as commander-in-chief of the GAR, called on all members to decorate the graves of their dead comrades. As the years passed this observance became an annual affair. Somehow there arose a corruption, if it can be called that, of referring to Memorial Day as Decoration Day.

In 1882 the Grand Army urged that the proper designation of May 30 should be Memorial Day. Many years were to pass before Decoration Day began to give way to Memorial Day in printed and spoken reference.

Rhode Island in 1874 was the first state to make May 30 a legal holiday.

It was General Logan's desire that the tradition of decorating the graves of the war dead include those of all wars. And thus it has been through the little wars and the big wars in which the United States has been involved.

Now Memorial Day observance has been broadened in its application because tribute by flower and flag is paid to all service connected men either by family or friend. Memorial Day, too, has become a day for placing graveside flowers on the final resting place of mothers and daughters, fathers and brothers.

Every Memorial Day should inspire those who visit cemeteries to remember the real significance of the day. It is not just another holiday for fun-making but one in which there should be afforded an hour or so of reverence and recognition for those who died for their country. And this in grateful acknowledgement, too, that our nation is not engaged in a bloody, shooting war.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

New Wrinkle to Fortify Mexican Border

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The House Government Operations Committee has been probing, rather gingerly, into the ramified operations of Gen. Joseph Swing, Ike's classmate at West Point, who as Immigration Commissioner got a modest-salaried Mexican maid sent from the border to Washington, and also keeps his daughter on the federal payroll at $4,500.

Latest Swing wrinkle being probed is the general's plan for the defense of the Mexican border—a job which falls under the Defense Department with the advice of the State Department. By no stretch of the imagination is it a job of the Immigration Service.

However, Swing, a military man, has two generals working for him—Gen. Frank Partridge and Gen. Edwin B. Howard. Their minds naturally run in military channels.

So, at about the time Gen. Swing's classmate, Gen. Eisenhower, and the president of Mexico were meeting in White Sulphur Springs to congratulate each other on the peaceful amity of their two nations, Swing's generals were evolving "Plan A" for the defense of the hitherto peaceful Mexican border.

None of the Immigration generals will talk about Plan A, but it provides for an elaborate system of roadblocks constructed from telephone poles and railroad ties; demolition squads; huge pits in the highways; machine-gun emplacements; and a volunteer militia of 8,000 men recruited from the Border Patrol.

When queried by the House Government Operations Committee about Plan A, Gen. Swing's office replied: "The matter is classified."

Note—The United States has long boasted that it has the longest peaceful, undefended borders in the world.

Lobbyists Call Shots

The scene was the Senate chamber. Two lawyer-lobbyists sat in the gallery listening to the solons debate whether New York state or the private utilities should get the Niagara River's turbulent hydroelectric power.

Six years earlier the USA had agreed with Canada on how to divide the valuable water between the two countries for power purposes. Canada had gone forward to build a successful power plant on her side of the Niagara. But on the American side there was only strife.

Five privately owned power companies coveted the choice Niagara site, but New York's Gov. Averell Harriman wanted consumers to get the benefit of low-cost public development. So did Robert Moses, head of the New York State Power Authority and a Dewey appointee.

The Senate was about to vote—after lobbyists for the five companies had pulled strings, buttonholed senators for days.

In the Senate visitors' gallery sat Manning Shaw, lobbyist for the National Association of Electric Companies, beside Harry Slater of Syracuse, attorney for Niagara Mohawk.

"Well, it's all set," Shaw whispered. "I just talked to Ives and Knowland and Bush, and tomorrow Bush will move to recommit at 4 o'clock. There'll be an hour of debate, so they won't vote before 5 o'clock. That'll give us time to get Bridges and Flanders back in here to vote for recommitment."

The attorney named Slater looked skeptical. "Oh, Len Hall's with us," Shaw reassured him. "And Knowland's been working the telephone to get these guys back in here."

With the backing of three influential senators and the Republican national chairman, Shaw pointed out, the Senate was almost certain to

Guest Editorial—

OKLAHOMA CITY OKLAHOMAN: As Recently As That? In a "Twenty-five Years Ago Today" column the Memphis Commercial Appeal tells of a Memphis lady who was arrested for appearing on the streets without stockings. She was taken into court and rather severely lectured by the presiding judge. Her discarding of hose was regarded generally as a grave breach of decorum. By the law enforcement agencies of Memphis her conduct was regarded as a serious violation of the law.

It is rather difficult for the rising generation to believe there ever was a time when the failure of a woman to wear stockings when appearing in public constituted an infraction of the law. And it is difficult for anybody to realize that an effort was made to enforce such a law as recently as 25 years ago. Why, that seems to have been just yesterday. What different customs now prevail! When a lady goes downtown nowadays stockings are not the only items of woman apparel that are left at home.

An Obligation to Our Fallen Heroes

The World Today—

Perpetual Decoration Day for Dulles

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Every day is going to seem like Decoration Day to Secretary of State Dulles once the presidential campaign gets under way. The Democrats will be pinning charges all over him for his handling of foreign affairs.

They're already doing it. So when he said a few days ago he favors a "pretty thorough airing" of foreign policy in this year's campaign it was the same as if he had said "I can't stop it from raining."

It can't be much of a surprise to Dulles that the Democrats so early in the election year are banging away at his — and President Eisenhower's — conduct of foreign policy.

Dulles himself was so eager to attack the Democrats' foreign policy in the 1952 presidential campaign that he resigned early that year as a special adviser to the Truman administration so he could speak his mind freely.

And speak he did, right up to election day. He was one of the most persistent Republican critics of the Truman foreign policy although, after becoming secretary of state, that was the basic policy he followed himself.

When the Democrats rip into the Eisenhower administration's handling of foreign policy this year they'll have less emotional appeal than Dulles was able to muster up four years ago.

In 1952 the Korea War was still being fought, and the American people were sick of it. No one knew whether that small war might be extended into a big one with Russia and Red China.

Now the Korea war is over. Red China has quieted down. Russia is not only not growing but has promised to take 1,200,000 men out of military service. And the world is breathing easier than it was in 1952.

If some of the words the Democrats this year use against Dulles sound strangely familiar—like words Dulles used against them in 1952 — it doesn't necessarily mean politicians have a limited vocabulary. It may be coincidence.

In 1952 Dulles accused the Democrats of conducting a "rear guard action" against communism instead of grasping the initiative.

This year Adlai Stevenson, one of the Democrats' presidential hopefuls, said, "It is high time . . .

that we . . . take some initiative to allay the world's misgivings."

In 1952 Dulles said the Russians were "winning by default" because they have not "had to meet the vision, the imagination, the resourcefulness . . . of which the American people are capable."

Averell Harriman, another potential Democratic nominee, said this year that what American foreign policy needs is a "fresh start, a rethinking, an imaginative and creative new approach."

In 1952 Dulles said the Democrats had become a "victim" of their "own war propaganda about Soviet Russia."

This year Sen. Estes Kefauver, a third Democrat with eyes on the White House, said the Eisenhower administration and Dulles "have become prisoners of their slogans and promises."

Ruth Millett Says—

Don't Make Country Friends Yell For Mercy This Summer

It's a little early for a certain type of letter to start coming in. Even so, the first one arrived today.

It was a letter from a "country cousin" saying "please write something about city friends and relatives who descend on us weekend after weekend expecting to be bedded, fed, and entertained."

Every year as vacation time approaches, a raft of such letters comes to this column.

It seems that a lot of city folks think it is no trouble, no work, and no expense for people who live on a farm or are year-round residents of a summer resort to play host to their friends and relatives.

Many of them don't even announce their plans. They just drive up, expecting a big welcome.

They usually get it. But they might be surprised at how often the welcome is forced and the hosts actually groan when they see a city car turn in the drive.

So this is a relayed plea. If you haven't a special invitation don't invite yourself or descend unannounced on your country friends just because it is hot in the city and you think it would be nice to get away from it all for a weekend.

And if you are lucky enough to be urged to visit a country-dwelling friend or relative, don't think that a box of chocolates or some toys for the kids will repay the hospitality.

Just as you like to get away to the country in the summer, so your country friends may long to get into the city in the winter. Arrange to pay back hospitality with hospitality.

If your country friends can put you up for a summer weekend surely you can manage somehow to put them up for a city weekend.

If you can't, perhaps you had better stay home.

12-Year-Old Saves

Two Boys From Pond

BETHANY, Okla. (AP)—Two young Bethany boys, Casey Jones 5, and Jerry Roebuck, 8, were pulled from a farm pond by a 12-year-old companion, Kenneth Ray Hulsey Quellar, Bethany.

The two youngsters were playing on a raft when the craft sunk in deep water. Neither could swim. Quellar splashed into the water and pulled the six-year-old onto the bank and then returned for the other boy.

Returning to shore Quellar found the second youth unconscious and applied artificial respiration he said he learned from his father. After reviving the boy he went for help.

Evaluating New Answers To Our Straying Foreign Policy

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Democrat-Capital
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — New answers in foreign policy are being sought to the world situation which is worsening for the West in this so-called peacetime. The old answers, such as the Marshall Plan, don't fit today's complex shift of conditions. Neither does the Communist smiling switch to economic aid. The disarmament gestures of peace-seeking, even if phony, are having an effect on the uncommitted and neutral countries. It's a canny way to make Uncle Sam see the war-monger that the Red propaganda has been claiming for years.

There's a young, wealthy member of the House Foreign Affairs committee, a former diplomat, who is determined to find some of those new answers. Known on the committee as a butcher to "fat foreign aid" proposals Alvin Bentley (R-Mich.) is equally recognized as a convinced internationalist to combat Communism.

He has a bit of the crusader approach, maybe a result from the shock he got from the guns of those Puerto Rican fanatics back on March 1, 1954. Certainly the 38-year old Congressman from Dewey's home town of Owosso doesn't need to work hard at anything if he doesn't so desire because he's perhaps the richest man in the Congress.

In an exclusive interview, the Congressman outlines some of the new answers he is evaluating.

1. Separate military and economic foreign aid with his committee concerned only with the latter. (That would relieve State Department of direct responsibility about military matters of special concern to the Defense Department.) The Committee agrees with him about this separation. To the world it would underscore that the United States is not so military-minded as broadcast by the Communists.

2. Funnel our aid through the United Nations.

3. Make loans, not grants to foreign nations with certain exceptions. "Makes the recipient have more self-respectability."

4. Allow American investors abroad to use some of the foreign currency belonging to the United States government which accumulates too much. Uncle Sam would be repaid in dollars by the American businessman.

To him one of the best is the proposal for a Commission on Mutual Security of not more than five members.

This was a substitute suggestion to the Administration's request for a long range (perhaps 10 year) foreign aid program. The strong sentiment against committing future congresses knocked this alternative out of committee. But the Owosso Republican thinks perhaps the Commission - idea will be brought up on the floor when the bill comes up for debate. He sees real merit in such a fact-searching commission "if the right men can be found to do the searching."

Odds and Ends
By News Staff

THE CARS were stopped on Highway 50 at Engineer one day recently waiting for the light to change, when a baby not more than 18 months old toddled out into the intersection. From the other direction came a dump truck but the driver, who, of course, had the green light, saw the danger. The light was about to change and the lines of waiting cars were ready to start up suddenly. He stopped his truck, jumped out and rushed to the middle of the intersection, grabbing the baby up just as the light changed.

About that time the mother, who had just missed her baby, rushed out looking for him, and the smiling truck driver handed him over to her.

The people in the waiting cars were breathless. What if they had started up as the light they were watching changed and they hadn't seen the tot in front of them? None of the people in any of the cars had noticed the baby and they shuddered at what might have happened if the young man hadn't realized the danger and acted quickly.

They wonder if the mother knew and was as grateful to the truck driver as they were.—H.L.

Adlai Scores Narrow Win In Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (A)—Adlai E. Stevenson emerged from Florida's Democratic presidential primary with a close and somewhat hollow victory over Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Florida voters simply didn't care much — and showed it with a small, tight vote — whether they gave the nod to the former Illinois governor or the Tennessee senator as their preference for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Returns from 1,680 of the state's 1,778 precincts added up this way: Stevenson 212,217 Kefauver 204,819

In the Republican primary, barren of any real competition, President Eisenhower topped Sen. William F. Knowland of California without trying. Knowland, on his part, made no effort to campaign or win.

GOP results from 1,346 of the 1,778 precincts showed: Eisenhower 37,777, Knowland 1,885.

Stevenson finally wrapped up his squeak-through victory in the early morning hours, in one of the tightest presidential primaries in recent history.

Most of the way the ballot counting was a see-saw affair, with Stevenson up one moment and Kefauver the next.

For Stevenson, the major prize was 22 of the 28 Florida votes at the Democratic National Convention in August. But the voters handed them over with no great outpouring of enthusiasm, and a switch of a few thousand votes could have put most of them in Kefauver's pocket.

The edge Stevenson eventually got to provide as much of a psychological shot in the arm for the primary in California next Tuesday as Stevenson's supporters had hoped.

Against Stevenson, Kefauver drew a bigger share of the statewide vote than the 45 per cent he managed against Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia in the 1952 presidential primary.

Furthermore, he showed a wider pulling power around the state as a whole than he did four years ago. Against Russell he took only 8 of 67 counties; against Stevenson he apparently gathered in 27.

Still, three of the counties he won in 1952 he dropped to Stevenson this time.

Both Stevenson and Kefauver already were in California to resume their primary wars.

In Los Angeles, Kefauver called the closeness of the Florida primary a "great moral victory for me." Stevenson said at Vallejo he was "very pleased" at the outcome and "deeply grateful to the people of Florida for their endorsement."

Benmont Tench, Stevenson's Florida campaign manager, said the primary "vindicates Gov. Stevenson's policy of talking sense to the American people, and it places Florida squarely behind the candidate who can unite the Democratic party and lead it to victory in November."

Man Hunter Retires

HALE CENTER, Tex. (A)—J. Frank Norfleet, the man hunter, has retired.

"Of course, you have to tie him down," say members of his family.

He's 91 years old now. It was in 1919 that Norfleet was in Dallas, Tex., when a gang of swindlers got the $30,000 with which he planned to buy a ranch. He resolved to track down the members of the gang.

Over the United States and Canada he traveled. Two swindlers were taken into custody in Los Angeles. Another was captured in Georgia. A fourth was found in Salt Lake City, then another in Los Angeles.

In five years he rounded up the men who swindled him. By this time he was a renowned detective and enjoyed the role. He made a career of hunting down confidence men. At one time he rounded up 41 swindlers in Denver. Many times his life was in danger.

His man-hunting career lasted about 20 years during which he stalked and caught more than 100 swindlers.

knelt above George, prayed a few moments, then walked away, her head down.)

George: Stella! When I kissed her goodby she said if I didn't come back she'd never marry again. That was what?—30 years ago. She looks so old and tired and lonely. Does she really think that's the way I wanted it? If I could only have left her a son.

(Four people, an elderly couple and a young couple, came to Joe's headstone, decked it with flowers, and spoke of him lovingly as they sat down on the grass and opened a picnic lunch.)

Joe: Mom! Dad! And my kid brother. How big he is! The girl with him must be his wife. Imagine Harry being married. How fast things change—up there.

(A delegation from the Sons of the Confederacy arrived, planted a waving flag—the Stars and Bars by Clem's grave, listened to a brief speech then departed.)

Charley: I don't know what happened to the Sons of the Grand Army of the Republic this year, Johnny Red, but your side remembered you.

Clem: Why shouldn't they, Yankee? Who do you think won the war? But it was a mighty terrible short speech.

George (musingly): Wars and speeches. Speeches and wars. I wonder if we all had to do over again, whether we'd—

Jim (testily): Had what to do over again? All I did was to get kicked by a mule in a training camp in Missouri. All my buddies thought it was funny, until I keeled over. I never even had a chance to laugh.

George: I was crawling through some barbed wire near Chateau-Thierry when a Hun sniper—

Clem: I was crying for water in a Yankee prison. I had the fever bad. Suddenly I was taken with a coughing fit and—

Charley: I was thirsty, too, Red, on that third day at Gettysburg when I lifted my head, and a bullet came and—

Joe: I wanted wings, and I was guiding a bomber over Germany when we ran into a flak burst, and—well I won my second pair.

Frank: I was in the Marines, just turned 20, when we landed in Korea. Didn't even have time to hate anybody. Five minutes after we started up the first hill a mortar hit at my feet and—Aw, who cares now? Where's Edith? She was only 18 when she promised she'd always ... Couldn't she come just this once?

Charley: Never mind, son. You'll get used to it. Anyway, maybe she misses you in ways you don't even know.

Frank: But Edith was the only girl I really ever knew, the only one I ever had a chance to know.

(The family group above Joe rose to go. His mother, the last to rise, suddenly knelt down again, put her lips to his name in the stone, and burst into tears.)

Joe: Mama ... mama—

(The cemetery guard closed the gates behind the last departing visitor. Memorial Day was over. A meadowlark, hidden in the darkening grass, sang a requiem to a silent camp.)

Dusek Beats Dr. Grable In Mat Finale

Dr. Lee Grable, Hollywood, Calif., fell victim of his own maneuvering in the title match with Joe Dusek and lost it on the final fall. The two had split the first two falls. It appeared as if the Doctor might come through and take away the beautiful trophy but it remains in Dusek's possession.

A crowd of more than 600 wrestling fans were kept yelling through the entire evening of action. It was the last match of the season to be held at the Armory. It is hoped several outdoor matches can be arranged for the summer months, depending on wrestling talent which might be in the area.

Dr. Grable won the opening fall by using his famous bulldog headlock and body press. It took 15 minutes and 17 seconds to accomplish the first fall. Dusek came back and using a neck drop and smother won the second fall in seven minutes and 48 seconds. The third fall went to Dusek when he reversed the procedure and caught Dr. Grable off guard as he was applying his bulldog headlock. It took six minutes and 26 seconds.

I became a little over confident and much too anxious to beat Dusek, Dr. Grable said. "I'll get him next fall, if he'll meet me," he concluded his interview.

In the match between Richard Brown, Overland Park, Kan., son of the famous Orville Brown, one-time heavyweight champion, and Bob Orton, Kansas City, Kan., the two heavies went the full time limit. Both men won a fall and the clock ran out during the third period.

For 25 minutes and five seconds the two giants roughed it up, wrestled and kept the fans on edge. Finally Orton got a toe hold on Brown and succeeded in winning the opening fall. The second fall went to Brown who used the airplane spin and body smother to beat Orton in three minutes and 42 seconds.

They finished the 45 minutes of time in a draw, both men battling away as the gong sounded.

In the opening match Bill "Red" McIntyre, Ottumwa, who returned the past week after a tour of the west, met Jack "Gas House" Hader now of Eugene, Mo., and beat him. McIntyre, whose reputation is well known in these parts, resorted to the same rough tactics of Hader and gave the fans a real thrill.

After nine minutes and 13 seconds Hader had a body hold on McIntyre and threw him against the ropes. The throw backfired as "Red" came bouncing back and crashed into Hader's mid-section, a second bounce off the ropes for "Red" put Hader to the mat. A smother won the fall and match.

Umpire Gets Locked In Dressing Room

DETROIT (AP)—Two sandlot baseball teams were warming up last night.

The managers had their lineups ready. The crowd was ready. It was game time.

But the umpire was missing. Finally, a faint shout came from the men's room. Inside was the umpire, Joseph Iannetta, who had gone to change clothes.

He was locked in.

Players called police. Police called their superiors. Finally a lieutenant located a parks department man with a key.

"Play ball" was 45 minutes late.

Athletics Reschedule Rained-Out Contest With St. Louis Club

Wet grounds and the threat of continued rains forced postponement of the game between the Sedalia Athletics and the St. Louis Stars which had been scheduled for Liberty Park this afternoon.

The two teams have re-set today's washed-out tilt and will meet in a night game at Liberty Park on June 10.

The Athletics next home game will be Sunday against the current leaders of the Kansas City Jayhawk League, Fiddlers.

Stubborn A's Have Returned To the Cellar

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The stubborn Kansas City Athletics are back in last place in the tight three-cornered battle to stay out of the American League basement and reliever Ed Bertschy has his first defeat, despite the efforts of old Enos Slaughter.

Slaughter, the 40-year-old hustler who beat Chicago with a ninth inning homer Monday, homered again yesterday at Kansas City and ignited a game-tying ninth inning rally with a single, but the A's lost, 7-4 in 12 innings.

The White Sox capitalized on Bertschy's sudden lack of control in the 12th after two hitless innings and scored twice on two walks, Hec Lopez's error which let in the tie-breaking run, and another walk which forced in a run.

Rain then forced a delay of more than an hour and the White Sox came back to score another run off Tom Lasorda, who replaced Bertschy, now 3-1 for the season.

Slaughter's two hits moved him to ninth place among the leading American League hitters with a .323 average.

Veteran Howard Pollet had a four-hitter and a 4-2 lead entering the ninth when Slaughter singled and Harry Simpson walked, bringing in Sandy Consuegra. With two down, Vic Power and Joe Ginsberg singled to drive in the tying runs.

Tom Gorman, making his first start since 1953, went eight innings for Kansas City. Slaughter homered in the fourth and a pair of doubles by Tim Thompson and Johnny Groth scored their other run in the second. Les Moss homered for Chicago with the bases empty in the second.

The St. Louis Cardinals had an open date.

Charleston Team Plays 4th Extra Inning Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If other American Assn. teams can't beat the Charleston Senators in the customary nine innings, they apparently have a new formula: Bore 'em to defeat.

The league tail-enders forced Louisville 17 innings—longest game of the season—before bowing, 9-8, Tuesday night.

It was Charleston's fourth extra-inning game this season, including a 16-inning contest May 1 when Denver won after four hours and 30 minutes. The Senators have lost every extended game by one run.

Omaha's Cardinals slugged Denver, 18-12, in the highest scoring game of the campaign, and St. Paul spilled Minneapolis, 8-6, leaving the losers four games apart at the top of the standings. Indianapolis moved within six games of first place Denver on a 7-2 victory over Wichita.

The game at Louisville was four hours and 23 minutes old when Neil Chrissy doubled home Gene Herbert with the winning run.

Resurgent Indianapolis started fast with Stan Pawloski's first-inning grand slam round-tripper and never let Wichita threaten as lefty Hank Aguirre tossed a two-hitter. Both the Braves' safeties were by Din, Bollweg, a seventh-inning homer with a teammate on base. Dave Pope got three singles for the Indians, and drove in their other three runs.

New Time Announced For A's Day Games

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics announced today their American League day games at home will be played half an hour earlier.

The new time is 1:30 p. m. (CST). The new schedule will take effect June 15, when the Athletics return from a road trip which starts after their Memorial Day

Yankees Fail To Wrap Up Nixon Again

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

Last season, when Willard Nixon was the only pitcher to beat the New York Yankees four times, Manager Casey Stengel observed, "We gotta find out something about that fella." Yesterday, the Yankees found out they "gotta find out something" more about the Boston right-hander.

Stengel's champions finally got to Nixon late last season, beating him the last two times they met. And right off the bat this spring, they put him under the showers after five innings the first time they faced him.

Nixon got the Yankees squared away again yesterday. He almost had 'em wrapped up in the first perfect game since 1922, retiring the first 20 men he faced. Then all sorts of things happened and he had to settle for a 7-3 decision and a three-hitter.

The defeat sent New York into today's Memorial Day double-header bill with Washington four games ahead of second-place Cleveland, which was idle in the American League. Chicago's White Sox, in fourth, picked up a game by banging Kansas City 7-4 in 12 innings. Washington beat Baltimore 6-5.

In the National, Don Newcombe put an end to Dale Long's home run streak and Pittsburgh's four-game winning streak as the Brooklyn Dodgers broke out for a 10-1 decision. Cincinnati defeated Chicago 10-4, with Gus Bell hammering three home runs and two singles for seven runs batted in, in the only other game scheduled.

Newcombe, winning his seventh in 10 decisions, also smacked a three-run double and a single as part of a 14-hit support by the Brooks for his seven-hit pitching. Bell's perfect day was just about the whole story for the Redlegs, who also had a homer from Ed Bailey. Brooks Lawrence was the winner, padding his perfect record to 6-0. Sam Jones was the loser.

Rain delayed the White Sox's winning rally for 75 minutes at Kansas City. An error scored the tie breaker in the 12th after Chicago had blown a 4-2 lead in the ninth. Losing reliever Ed Bertschy also walked home a run in the three-run 12th, in which the Sox scored three with but one hit—Fred Hatfield's bunt single.

Nashua to Run In Metropolitan Handicap Race

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Mile, one of America's great handicap races, and a famous Nashua, the millionaire horse, are the holiday attraction today at Belmont Park in probably the most interesting race of the day at thoroughbred tracks.

Nashua was assigned 130 pounds, spotting 25 pounds to Mr. Turf and 14 to Find, and if he wins—he may be pointed for the handicap triple crown.

The Metropolitan was first raced at the old Morris Park course in the Bronx in 1891, and is a notable event in that it's the first of the so-called triple crown for handicapped horses. The others are the Suburban and the Brooklyn handicaps.

Nashua will be moving into some pretty classy company if he does the job.

Only two horses have won the Handicap triple, Whisk Broom II in 1913, and the great Greentree colt Tom Fool in 1953, when he was a 4-year-old. The Suburban, usually the Memorial Day feature at Belmont, is being held July 4, while the Brooklyn is down for Aug. 4 at Jamaica. Both are at the mile and one quarter route.

Whooping Crane Gives Birth to First Bird Born in Captivity

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Crip the whooping crane "whooped it up" like any other proud father today after his mate presented the bird world with the first of its species born in captivity.

The long-awaited offspring made its appearance yesterday at the Audubon Park Zoo. It is the 31st whooping crane known to exist. Crip's mate Josephine set the bird world talking a month ago when she laid the first of two eggs. The second still remains to be hatched.

The shy newcomer occasionally came from beneath its mother's wing as photographers eagerly awaited an opening. They had some trouble since the baby crane's color blended with its surroundings.

The whooping crane is the tallest bird in North America. It is long-necked, long-legged, red-faced and white-bodied.

IT'S A FACT THAT—

Credit for Nixon Victory Ford Frick Deserves Some

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Willard Nixon was accepting congratulations today as the first Boston Red Sox pitcher to defeat the Yankees at New York in nearly a year but a strong assist should be given to Ford Frick, the commissioner of baseball.

It was Frick who put his foot down when the Red Sox placed Nixon's name on the disabled list because of a sore shoulder only two weeks ago. He refused to allow the request and how well he was borne out is attested by Nixon's dramatic three-hitter yesterday in Boston's 7-3 triumph.

The 27-year-old right-hander came mighty close to turning in a no-hitter. Despite his dazzling performance, he insisted he still wasn't "feeling up to par."

Griffin, Van Dyne, Turner Qualify For State JC Golf Event

Sedalia will be represented by three fine young golfers, Leslie Griffin, Vic Van Dyne and Ronnie Turner, in the annual State Jaycee Junior Amateur golf tournament at Mexico, Mo., June 18th and 19th. The local swingers won berths in the state tourney by virtue of finishing in the first three places in the Sedalia Jaycee Junior tournament held Monday at the Country Club.

The name of Richard Sklar was inadvertently headlined incorrectly as one of the three state contenders from Sedalia in a story on the local event in Tuesday's Democrat and Wednesday's Capital. Instead, Turner was the actual third place winner in the tournament to round out the three-man Sedalia aggregation to make the trip to the state playoff. Sklar finished fourth which failed to qualify him for the Missouri tourney.

Griffin, Van Dyne and Turner will be competing against youths 17 years old and under, from throughout the state.

The top four in state play will be sent to Fargo, N.D., Aug. 20-26, expenses paid, for the 11th annual International Jaycee Junior Amateur tournament.

Democrat Class Ads Get Results! Phone 1000.

Even more noteworthy, Nixon had the crowd of 10,798 thinking in terms of a perfect game until two Yankees were out in the seventh inning. Showing absolutely no signs of any shoulder miseries which had sidelined him since May 15, the former Auburn football and baseball star mowed down 20 straight yankees, permitting only two balls to be hit out of the infield, before he walked Mickey Mantle on four pitches.

Not since Charley Robertson of the Chicago White Sox accomplished the feat in 1922 has any major league pitcher hurled a perfect game.

Nixon, only pitcher to defeat the Yankees four times last season, still had a no-hitter with two out in the eighth when Billy Martin tripled.

Willard lost his shutout in the ninth when, with two out, rookie third baseman Frank Malzone threw wild on Gil McDougald's grounder and Mantle stroked his 18th home run of the season into the right center field bleachers.

Columbia Citizens Defeat Daylight Time And Leashing Pets

COLUMBIA (AP)—Columbia citizens yesterday soundly defeated proposals to make them leash their dogs and cats or bring in daylight time.

At the same time they approved in a special election two small annexations, the establishment of two authorities, and with the county residents, a three million dollar bond issue.

The plan to leash pets was defeated 4,217 to 1,353, while the daylight time proposal was turned down 3,178 to 1,613.

With only a majority vote needed, two small annexations gained four to one approval. The establishment of a slum clearance authority was okayed by a 3,254 to 2,268 vote while a companion measure for setting up a housing authority passed 2,873 to 2,598.

The county bond issue to support enlargement of the Boone County Hospital was ahead 5,209 to 1,789 with only a few small precincts and some absentee ballots uncounted.

Life on the Atomic Seas Proves Cinch To Navy Crewmen Aboard the Nautilus

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

ABOARD THE NAUTILUS — (NEA)—A sexy pin-up of film star Kim Novak hangs on the thick lead shield of the atomic reactor in this A-sub.

Chief Petty Officer John Krawczyk, who put Kim there, didn't see anything unique about a pin-up on an atomic reactor. To him it was just a bulkhead—and maybe that's why the Navy now rates the Nautilus a successful new weapon.

During the past 16 months, in which the Nautilus has made sub history, its officers and men have scotched the old fear that "the only limitation of an atomic sub may be the durability of its crew."

The inherent advantages of atomic power for mechanical performance also have been found to apply to crew performance.

"Cruises aboard the Nautilus just don't resemble cruises on old-type subs, says Terry Provost who has spent his career on subs. "It's a different life, with none of the traditional inconvenience of sub life."

His reaction is typical. It was revealed during the first visit of newsmen ever permitted aboard this craft. It's supported by studies of crew reactions made during 37,000 miles of testing.

In breaking almost every submarine performance record in the book by a factor of 10 or more, not once has crew fatigue or morale been a limitation. Nautilus skipper Eugene P. Wilkinson, revealed.

The full significance of this discovery is wrapped in secrecy. But it applies to combat range of the A-sub type, the sub base structure and the striking potential of the whole U.S. sub fleet.

On a recent 10-day cruise, four consecutive days were spent under water in tough tactical tests no World War II sub skipper would have imagined possible. When it was ended most crew members were astonished to learn how long they had been submerged.

If you're not in the control room it's almost impossible to tell whether you're on the surface or below it. In fact, they've had to add a series of bells and signs in several parts of the sub to inform crew members of their dive status.

"We're wrecking some good sailors aboard the Nautilus," says one chief wryly. He refers to the fact that even in rough weather on the surface there's little rolling. Submerged there's no sense of motion at all.

This reporter, for example, can get seasick looking at row boat ads. On a 250-mile ride on the Nautilus, however, he didn't once reach for his seasick pills.

Elaborate crew comforts help the men match the performance of their amazing machine. Large sleeping quarters, scientific inter-or decorations, a 64-man movie theater, juke boxes, large libraries, radios and Coke machines are examples of comfort-provisions. Unlimited electrical power from the reactor permits constant operation of air freshening and air conditioning equipment, plus the use of ice cream and washing machines. Huge refrigerators permit serving of fresh vegetables and fruit for extended periods.

The extra space on the Nautilus comes from the absence of huge fuel tanks. Atomic fuel takes up a very small space.

Members of the crew have long since ceased to regard their nuclear power plant as a novelty. Men work around the unbelievably complex reactor as nonchalantly as they would putter with a hot-rod automobile.

Probably the most significant evidence of 100 per cent normalcy of the crew is the minor gripes they have. One of them is cruising on weekends to show visitors their sub. They've had 2,000 visitors since the boat was launched.

'Bus Stop' Is Nearing End of Line

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Bus Stop" is just about wheezing to the end of the line.

Principal photography on the picture is finished and a few odds and ends are being put together this week. This intelligence is offered for those who want to keep tabs on the movements of Marilyn Monroe. Judging from the deluge of propaganda in the national magazines, their number is legion.

"Bus Stop" has been one of the more bizarre of film projects, partly because of the changed status of Monroe. She left the lot a year ago a contract player and returned a corporation.

Being incorporated, she naturally needs officers. Most notable is Milton Greene, a magazine photographer who now acts as buffer for president Monroe. Vice president Greene is in constant attendance to sift requests and messages for Monroe. He in turn has his own buffer, who sifts requests and messages for Greene.

Getting to Monroe is as easy as reaching Howard Hughes, though not as hard as seeking out Greta Garbo. One Hollywood columnist traveled all the way to Phoenix

Oklahomans Use Old Bridges Over Again

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahomans never throw away old bridges—they just pack up every plank and spar and take them where needed.

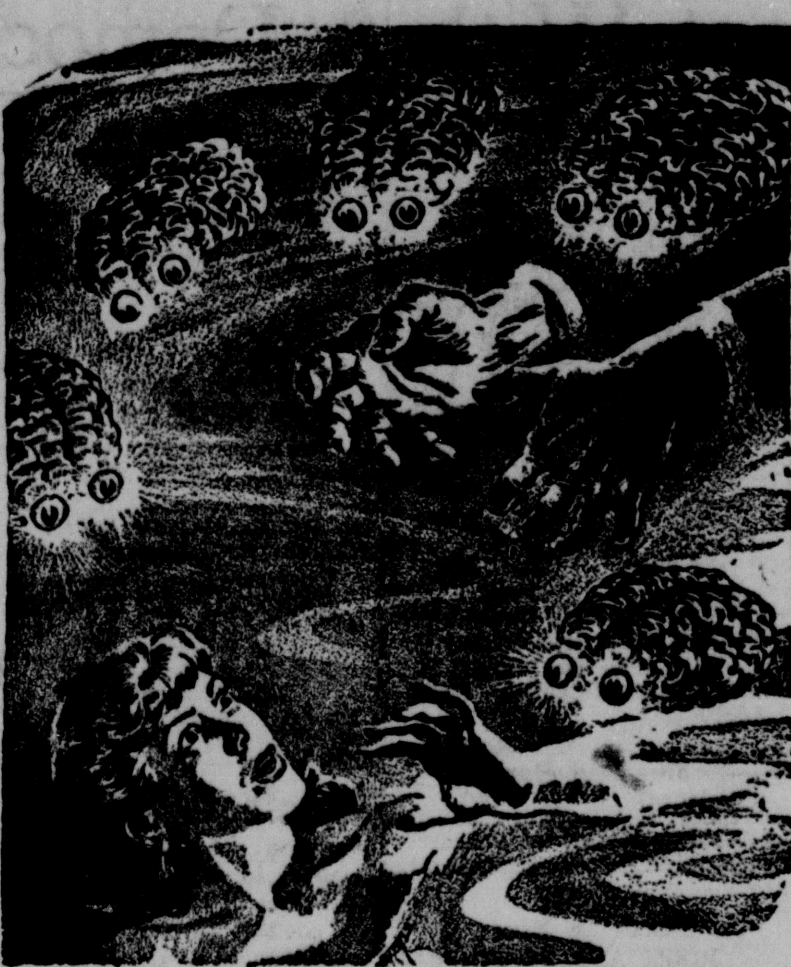

A new span was needed at the Lake Texoma Lodge site. Highway officials recalled an abandoned bridge in eastern Oklahoma. Bids will be let this summer to move the structure. It will furnish access to a new recreation area.

without seeing her. Since her illness, which was genuine, she has been incommunicado to the press. The picture is presold by the biggest magazine splash in recent memory. Besides, you don't have to publicize Monroe. She seems to have an uncommon knack for attracting the headlines, no matter what she does.

According to various of her buffers, Marilyn will be leaving for New York as soon as she finishes up her work in the picture. She is working on dubbing this week, and that should end her chores. She plans to leave for London around July 15 to begin her project with Sir Laurence Olivier, "The Sleeping Prince."

"What a combination!" rhapsodized a publicity man. "And you know how excitable the British press can be. I can see the headlines already. Wow!"

Wow, indeed. Little Norma Jean Baker has come a long, long way.

British Actress Is Granted Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—British actress Joan Collins was granted a divorce from Maxwell Reed after she told a judge the actor once told her she "looked terrible" and had "no talent."

Miss Collins, 23, said yesterday she had agreed to pay Reed, who did not contest the action, $5,950 and attorney fees. She charged cruelty.

They were married May 24, 1952, and separated in 1954.

Mix-up in Pulpit Causes Phone Calls

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—This is the gospel truth, if not the Gospel: When you dial 3-5000 in Boise you get Mrs. Eva McReynolds, not a recorded prayer.

Mrs. McReynolds' telephone has been ringing steadily since last Sunday, when a Boise minister announced that by dialing 3-5000 you would hear recorded prayers played on the phone by an automatic device.

But he got his telephone numbers mixed. Number 3-5000 is Mrs. McReynolds' telephone. The correct numbers for the prayer are 3-0000 and 3-3000.

Rules Don't Solve Problem On Television

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The essential part of a contest is a set of rules. But every once in a while the rules can be mighty perplexing—as The $64,000 Challenge (CBS-TV) discovered Sunday night.

Returning for the fifth time, Gloria Lockerman, 13, of Baltimore, and Andrew Douglass, 12, of Greenwich, Conn., tied at the $64,000 level in a spelling contest. Gloria is the defending champion; Andrew is a result of her success on The $64,000 Question last August.

Now the two will return next Sunday to see if a decision can be reached on who's the champ and who gets the $64,000. But since both have reached that highest plateau, some people have asked why shouldn't both kids get $64,000 apiece?

In answer to that Steve Carlin, executive producer of the show, says "There's no understanding with contestants that they get the full $64,000 unless their position is absolutely uncontested — and both Andrew and Gloria are still contesting each other."

Suppose both tie again next Sunday night?

Then they'll split the take at $32,000 apiece.

"Our original idea," says Carlin, "was to follow the traditional spell-down. One winner and sudden death to the other. We planned to keep them coming back until there was one winner. But in the case of two swell youngsters like Gloria and Andrew it seemed cruel and quite unfair to keep them coming back. They're both good. The tension just isn't fair to them."

Others connected with the program say Gloria and Andrew are most satisfied with the decision to split the purse.

Well, if they split the take, who is the champ?

"That," says Carlin, "is a question we have to resolve before next Sunday. Sometimes in a boxing bout when there's a draw the purse is split. That might be the decision in the event that Gloria and Andrew tie on Sunday. Gloria would remain the champ. Or again, with the tension of the money taken away, we might ask them to return on the following Sunday to decide only one question: Who is the champ?"

In any event, here's a bit of fresh news that should encourage both contestants: The sponsors of the program, making a special exception to the rules in the case of these two youngsters, will set up a fat scholarship fund for the loser—if there is a loser.

American Geologist, Promoting Boom Canada's Big Uranium Miner Sparks

TORONTO—(NEA)—The atomic age has transformed a fisherman's paradise just north of Lake Huron in Ontario into one of today's richest mining properties.

Three years ago the Blind River region's biggest asset was its lure for vacationists, anglers and hunters. Nobody paid much attention to Franc Joubin, a San Francisco-born geologist who had been hunting the area for years with a Geiger counter, convinced there was a wealth of uranium deep underground.

Then Joubin went to see Joseph Hirschhorn, a former Brooklyn, N.Y., man who has been promoting mines in Canada for the past 20 years. Hirschhorn listened and put up money for diamond drilling.

Convinced by the results, he and Joubin lined up geologists and prospectors in secret, then filed 1,400 claims in the Blind River area in a single day.

Their teamwork uncovered what is now considered the richest uranium field in Canada and perhaps in the world. Contracts for 500 million dollars worth of uranium have been signed by the mines Hirschhorn formed and by other companies for delivery by March 31, 1962.

Hirschhorn himself parlayed his faith in Joubin into one of the biggest mining deals in Canada's history by selling his Blind River holdings last March to Britain's big Rio Tinto Mines for 34 million dollars in stocks and bonds, with Hirschhorn emerging as board chairman of the new company.

The Blind River saga of Joubin and Hirschhorn spotlights Canada's uranium boom that promises to make it the world's largest producer of the nuclear necessity. By the end of 1959, the government foresees production at 250 million dollars a year, more than any mineral produced in the country to date.

Canada's first uranium mine was found in 1930 by Gilbert La Bine on the shores of Great Bear Lake, just south of the Arctic Circle. Ore from that mine supplied the raw material for the first atomic bombs. The mine is now government-operated.

Since then, the clicking Geiger counters of prospectors have unearthed uranium in northern Saskatchewan, where Uranium City was carved out of the wilderness; in the Northwest Territories, in the southern Ontario resort region near Bancroft, and in the Lake of the Woods area just north of Minnesota.

On Labrador's uninhabited mainland, recently opened up by the fabulous Knobs Lake iron ore discoveries, uranium deposits found by mining company prospectors are being investigated.

Stockpiling for military use is the immediate factor behind the uranium boom, which is based on contracts for delivery by 1962 calling for 700 million dollars worth of ore under joint U.S.-Canadian agreements.

But Canada's government company, Atomic Energy of Canada, is also looking beyond 1962. It is looking for markets in atomic power plants and in the use of radioactive materials for industries, medicine and research to keep the boom rolling.

Man Quits Dream Career To Start New Life in the Hills

SYLVIA, N.C. (P)—Many men who dream a big dream and make it come true learn to their surprise that it isn't what they really wanted after all.

But what can they do? Most remain embittered prisoners of a phantom success they no longer enjoy but are afraid to give up.

It takes a good man to give up his hard-won position at the peak and fight back down the rocky road he has traveled in order to regain something finer he lost earlier on the way up.

Such a man is John Parris, the only reporter I can name offhand who covers his beat in his own Cadillac.

John's ancestors journeyed from the coastal plain into the mountains of western North Carolina along rude horse and oxen paths shortly after the American Revolution, and the family has put its roots down pretty deep here since then.

But John, who became a reporter at 13 and never encumbered his mind with college lumber, got a yearning for the far places.

Like most small-town newspapermen, he dreamed of becoming a top by-line writer in the big city.

He did. Before he was 23 he was writing daily feature articles out of New York for a news agency.

But more distant fields called.

John went to London during the blitz raids. He landed as a war correspondent with the initial Allied forces that invaded Africa on Nov. 8, 1942.

After the war, John returned to New York, became a diplomatic correspondent for the Associated Press and covered the birth and development of the United Nations. He scored a number of notable beats. Covering the humberg hat set and its intrigues was heady, exciting and important. Yet something, he didn't know what, was missing.

In 1946 he met and within five weeks married Dorothy Luxton, a pretty art teacher from Topeka, Kan. But he had the forethought to tell her when he proposed:

"Honey, you may have to learn to use a double-bitted ax to cut up wood to keep a fire going." Soon after, his father, a jeweler here, died, and John took a leave of absence to come down and settle the estate.

"Almost as soon as I got here," he recalled, "I realized what was missing in my life. It was a kind of happiness I had known in the hills, and hadn't been able to find anywhere else."

It took a lot of courage for John to resign his job as a diplomatic correspondent at the United Nations and start his career all over in his old home town. It took a lot of understanding on his wife's part to back him. But she did. Neither has regretted the decision.

It wasn't easy. John spent two years on a novel that didn't quite come off, but, as he says, "may yet."

But in 1950 he began promoting "Unto These Hills," a pioneer outdoor drama of the Cherokee Indians that this year may draw its millionth spectator. On top of this and some magazine writing chores John started writing a column called "Roaming the Hills" for the Asheville Citizen.

Sammons' Home Combines Old, New in Modern Design

It looks like a small red frame house of ultra-modern design with trim of blended green just below the flat roof, but it isn't small at all and it is going to be bigger when Mr. and Mrs. Burl Sammons get through with it. Perhaps it is the huge trees that spread protectively over it that makes you think it is small, for it is located way out south on Route 1, or 50th and Grand.

As you stand at the door, before entering, you see through the clear glass panels at the side of the door a large rubber plant growing, with the dark Philippine mahogany of the hall wall forming a background. The hall floor is of Vermont slate and the beams of the house that you see as you look up are of laminated fir stained a delicate green.

The house faces the west and the walls of the hall run north and south, forming on the other side the west wall of the huge undivided living and dining area. This wide wall ends with a closet effect of polished mahogany but the bottom door of the closet conceals a hide-away bed, while the upper part has shelves.

The kitchen, which is at the front of the south side of the house and parallels the hall, that may again when she is through with it. Then, too, there is the cabinet built on the order of a record cabinet but instead of putting records close the kitchen off entirely has sliding windows or it may be open so anything on the counter top may be seen or reached either from the kitchen or dining room.

in the spaces, she has a nice orderly place to keep her pans.

The breakfast set has a table of wrought iron and glass, and the chairs are reed with wrought iron legs. Even the everyday dishes pick up the colors of bittersweet and green that are used in the curtains of the kitchen and the color scheme throughout the house.

Glass forms the entire east side of the living area with a wonderful view over the countryside. On the east, too, is a door that leads onto a porch, the floor of which has wide boards the color of the house and a slanting banister painted to match the green trim. It is a cheerful place with chairs, flower boxes with red geraniums and foliage in a planter. This leads to the patio, of red brick on the south side of the house which isn't quite finished but even so is an inviting place with growing flowers and outdoor furniture.

The south side of the living room has a fireplace of yellow brick. The fireplace is high and in front is a brick hearth about a foot and a half high that extends on over beneath the window to the corner east. The area along the south side beneath the roof is of glass.

The floor of the huge living room is cork tile and the furniture follows the colors of bittersweet, green and beige. In the northeast corner of the room by the huge glass window is a big black iron kettle. This is filled with a rubber plant and other tall growing plants.

Along the east side of the bedroom is the built-in dresser with formica top and tiered drawers beneath. A section of the top raises up to form a dressing table, with the mirror in the underneath side of the top. Here are all her cosmetics hidden from view when the top goes down. The ceiling of the bedroom is acoustic tile and the shutter doors are painted a light green. The ceiling light of the bedroom is of brass and black and on the night table is a brass and black lamp and a little vase of crystal and brass.

The bathroom is of ivory and blue, with a blue curtain at the window and blue formica used around the built-in lavatory. Beneath is a place for dirty clothes and another for towels. The toothbrushes have their own little hide-away in the wall. Burl did all the work in the bathroom, laying the tile and plumbing, and has done a good part of the work over the entire house. His wife has done her share, too, including making the curtains. And they still are working on a couple of more bedrooms.

In the basement is the washer and dryer, a regular workroom for Mrs. Sammons, and a door from there leads to the garage, which is also under the house.

The Sammons' home is really the very last word in homes. They haven't forgotten a thing—but then they shouldn't. Burl is an architect.
